This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports of China and Japan "] is intended as guide for travellers and residents in Chine and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys; and the elaborate many and plans, with which the work abounds. considerably enhance its value. * * *

We have thus given in outline some the more prominent portions of the chapterdevoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghae, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we would fain transfer them to our columns A complete and intelligible plan of the Imperial City and neighbourhood, gives us an accurate notion of the relative position of its divisions, streets, and places. In the introductory chapter to the notices of the Treaty Ports of Japan will be found as uccinet history of that Empire, together with remarks on its government, geography. and limits, which will be found particularly interesting as throwing a considerable lighon a part of the world so long entirely, and still comparatively, unknown to Europeans The descriptions of Nagasaki, Yedo, Yokohama, and the other Treaty Ports of Japan, are as elaborate and entertaining as those of the Chinese ports. A copious in dex and a useful appendix containing many hinte and much appropriate advice to travellers and others, is also included in the amount of information, pleasantly written, and we doubt not will be perused with interest by many who will never visit the Esstern seas.

MARRIAGE. On the 19th instaut, at Rose Villa, by the Rev. D. B. Morris, JOHN THOMSON, Esq., to Isabel, daughter of Captain P. PETRIE, R.N., of Port St. Mary House, sle of Man.

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, NOV. 20, 1868.

GOLD MINING AND TREATY Sir Rutherford Alcock has again placed himself in needless antagonism to the British community by instructing Mr Markham, H. M. Vice Consul at Chefoo to prohibit British subjects from engage ing in gold digging, on the score of its being an infraction of Treaty Right Had he placed his prohibition upon any other grounds whatever-had he of his own motion temporarily forbade mining in consideration of the complications which must almost inevitably ensue, until a perfectly clear understanding is arrived at between ourselves and the Chi-

perhaps approving, action which erred on | slip their own anchors. the side of over-caution. But the irreflective occupant of the British Legation has as usual been cajoled by the Chinese into the very worst line of conduct he could pursue. He has reduced the question, not to one of political expediency, to which much has often to be forgiven, but to one of bare legal right. And in common with our North China contemporaries we believe his dictum to be false in law and in fact. Prepared as we were to find-that Sir

Rutherford Alcock would exert every effort to prevent the initiation of a course which, under the most favourable circumstances, could not fail to give rise to many and perplexing discussions, we were hardly prepared to find he had made so respect of hired transports, for India alone, remarkable a blunder as that exhibited in the notification in question. He broadly states, without any qualification whatever that "the working of mines cannot be attempted by Foreigners without a breach of Treaty, which it is the duty of Foreign Representatives to prevent," and thus lays down that, even with the permission of the local authorities, or in their employ, the working of mines by foreigners is an act "which it prevent!" It may be said that this is a mere verbal blunder, and that it may be fully understood to mean "working the more blunders of fact and deduction than the inconsequent "theme" of the invenile school-boy, what can we say ? to express his real intentions,

That the forcibly taking possession of land, the ownership of which vests in the Chinese Government, and therefrom taking all the precious metal it will yield is not a "treaty right," needs no demonstration. It is not a "treaty right" build houses upon land of which the Chihese retain, and object to yielding up, the ownership or ground fee. But the assertion that, if the Chinese were to consent, mining would be illegal is as childish as it will assuredly be inoperative. But we from the shore. The plating of her keelson further maintain that the Treaty fully was stoved in smidships and the ship lay of authorises foreigners to proceed into the her starboard quarter with the water deep interior for any purpose of business or pleasure; and while, so long as the Chiness are bolstered up in the belief that they possess territorial authority, we may admit their right to prevent gold being taken from the country against their will the most inveterate advocate of Chinese "rights" cannot maintain that, this per mission granted, there can be anything illegal in foreigners searching for gold.

Thus much for the notification in its narrowest aspect. Considered from a broader point of view we may adduce fresh reasons against it. The first is that it was the duty of the British Minister to have insisted on the Chinese framing proper regulations to permit of mining, as in other countries. This we may dismiss without argument; to discuss the incompetency of the Minister for his position is but a thankless task. Our second reason is that the Chinese Government has by its incapability of controlling local affairs in the provinces for good or evil, forfeited the rights which would otherwise yest in it as the sovereign of the soil. The doctrine we here enunciate is no new one; and we may observe that the incapacity of the Peking authorities to enforce respect for their instructions has just been exemplified in the case of Tseng-kwo-fan, the Viceroy at Nanking, This proposition is one which sooner or later will force itself on the attention of is going to insist on the existence of territorial right on the part of the Chinese, to its full extent, as against ourselves. he must equally insist upon their assuming the responsibilities which belong to that position. Yet how does he reconcile the fact that the Viceroy Tseng-kwo-fan has just been coerced by superior force into the performance of an act of reparation, which, under Sir Rutherford's theory it lay with the Central authorities to carry out? And how does he account for our having seized a steamer as a material guarantee for the due perform. ance of all promises 1-an act equivalent to a declaration of war if the Chinese central authorities were the responsible parties! Of course he would say the Peking officials were powerless to act, But if so, why concede to them privileges, while by personal action we exempt them from the fulfilment of their responsibilities, in the provinces. "Peace at any price" is the sole key to such contradictory and insane action. But it will not pay in the long run. Sir Rutherford has again vindicated his claim to the maledictions of all well-wishers not merely to foreign trade but to China herself.

Our Canton correspondent writes :- The summary procedure the other day in the case of the two ruffians who contrived to kidnap the two Sampan Graces, seems to to more daring acts than to have struck chievous design, and when rerambulating | charged, for the safety of the vessel. across an individual who was carrying on | bonds, and ballast was deemed a necessity his shoulder a bag containing some two by all parties concerned. hundred tacks of Silver. Like the Reynard that stared at the bunch of grapes the ladrones fixed their eyes on the money-bag, and one of them rushing forward adminiatered a blow with a small sword a little above the forehead of the money-bag carrier, whilst the other two snatched the bag good their escape with it. But the rascal, who inflicted the wound, was not so fortunate in getting off, and is now in the safe custody of the magistrate. Petty thefts in broad day are reported to be of more frequent occurrence, and the modus operandi of the ladrones seems to be to throw a Monset besides. The timber in dispute handful of pepper or gunpowder at the had been stopped in transitu by Mesars eyes of the "spotted" individual and then attack his purse. The sampan in which a reverend gentleman was returning from Whampon on the night of Monday last, was suspected by a passenger craft from the sampan coming up rapidly to her, and her captain consequently hailed the suspected boat, which points to the fact that there exists a feeling of insecurity from a dread of pirates even between this and Whampoa. Whilst below Whampoa they seem to be hovering about and lying in wait to pounce on any prey that may come within their reach. The lighter Jack is reported to have been visited by these aquatic pests on her downward trip the other day when opposite to the Second Bar Pagoda. But they found nothing valuable on board to carry off, and not willing to encumber themselves with bulky articles, retired very much disappointed. The lighter returned to Whampon and reported the circumstance to the Chetor's gun-yesse. Feeloong, whose gallant commander thereupon brought his tactics into play, and pirates boarded her, whilst the Flying Dragon herself was to be on the qui vive at a distance, watching the display of an arranged signal from the lighter. But the pirates were not to be so easily entrapped consequently the programme of the gallant commander, for a brush with them fell through—to his great disappointment. Thus with pirates and ladrones, who seem to have commenced operations much sooner this year in order to provide themselves with funds for the new-year festivities, it crosses one's mind how long it is since we. had a sight of one of Her Majesty's Gun-

after putting a few of his fighting men on board the lighter, ordered her to proceed

and anchor at the very spot where the boats. The Chetor's mosquito fleet seem to be all occupied somewhere else, and although one of them occasionally puts in an appearance here, of what advantage will t be to shut the door of the stable after the steed is stolen? The marrying season of the Celestials has commenced—processions in the streets and entertainments affoat are now almost the order of the day with our long-tail friends. In the stead of bracing North wind, we have had Easterly and South-Easterly winds up to this time, which must have been unfavorable hitherto to training for our coming carnival of races. Mr Brown, who was wounded about two years ago when a revenue officer, has returned perfectly cured of the wound, but the ball has not been extracted. The zeal and daring which Mr Brown, displayed in the service of his Imperial master, particularly onthe occasion when he was wounded, for which he has received no extra compensation, will it is to be hoped, be taken into the debtor. His Lordship said that the consideration by the Inspector General, whose pleasure Mr Brown is now waiting for his re-enlistment in the Customs' staff.

YUBY CHEONG v. REYNVAAN. Return of Writ of Foreign Attachment This was the return of the amended writ to attach certain cargo on board the barque Leen Fa, alleged to be the property out of the hands of the man, and made William Reynvaan. Mr Hayllar, instructed by Mr Francis (for Mr Gaskell), appear ed for the plaintiff.

Mr Pollard, Q.O., (instructed by Mr. Caldwell) appeared for leave to appear on behalf of Mesars Jenny & Co. (Manila); he appeared for Mr G. B. Falconer and Mr day, at ten o'clock. Jenny, and they contended that plaintif could not attach goods which did not belong to Reynvaan. The bills of lading had not been delivered to any one; but he saw the Postmaster in Court, and he supposed that his learned friend intended to make him a garnishee, though it had been decided by Mr Adams that no officer of the Crown could be a garnishee. Mr Pollard admitted that if the goods were proved not to belong to Messrs Jenny, then he had nothing to say about Reynvaan.

Mr Hayllar objected to Mr Pollard's appearance for Mesers Jenny, and said that he had a prior title if he could prove his prima facie case. It was only a matter of practice, however.

Mr Pollard explained that he had looks standi as representing the garnishee, indeagreed to go upon the legal right first, and then (failing that) Mr Pollard could proceed upon the equitable right by lien or otherwise. The learned Q.C. explained that the cargo of timber was shipped by Messrs Jenny & Co. to the account on risk of William Revnyaan, who was to obtain possession of the goods upon payment of a draft. This draft had never been paid, the bills of lading were lying in the Post-office, and the goods were therefore in dispute. Mr Hayllar then proceeded to show cause of action, and described the loss of $2,084 upon a charter party entered into between one Glusenkamp (signing for Reynvann Brothers & Co.) and the plaintiff. The facts, as previously stated, are—that Mesers Reynvann chartered from Messre Arnhold, Karberg & Co. the ship in question (Java) at 45 cents a picul, and afterwards effected a sub-chaiter of the vessel for 38 cents to the plaintiff, on condition of immediate payment. The $1,500, amount of 38 cents charter, was never paid to the captain; consequently, the plaintiff lost that amount; and according to an arrangement with the captain, the difference between the subpicul) had also to be paid.

sought to be attached, while the firm of Reynvann Brothers & Co. was the avowed party to the charter party.

The Chief Justice said this was one of the evils arising from the use of "Co. which was often nothing else but a cloak forfraud. They had a better plan in America, by a clause enforcing two members to constitute a firm or "Co." The law here was

> RICH QUARTZ MINES IN NEW ZEALAND.

Recent papers announce the opening in New Zealand of some of the richest quartz dle island, where the Maoris are few in

On the northern island, the rich deposits, so far found, are all in quartz. It was not until July that the stamps in the Thames district, 65 miles east of Auckland, in latitude 39°, began to run, and the results are without a parallel in the records of quartz milling. The Hunt mill, with four stamps, tu two weeks, turned out 10,700 ounces of gold, 920 fine, worth $19 per ounce, and $203,300 in all; or at the rate of $5,000,000 per year. This was probably obtained from rock which had been carefully selected, for the proprietor had made a bet of $500 that he would get 10,000 ounces in the first month. As a stamp crushes usually less than two tons per day, we may assume that not more than 100 tons of quartz were crushed in the fortnight, making the yield $2,000 per ton on an average. The mill has twelve stamps, but the supply of water was so scanty for the first two weeks that it was not possible to run more than four stamps. We know of nothing to approach this wealth of quartz, except the Morgan mine, at Carson Hill, in California which, in 22 months, from February, 1850, till December, 1851, produced $2,800,000, according to the statement of one person who was at the mine during the whole period : though another person, who was also there, and was long interested as an owner, says the sum was only $1,500,000. But even at the highest estimate the Morgan did not yield more than $35,000 per week on an average; and a great number of workmen were engaged in extracting it, fifty arrastras having been busy at one time in crushing the rock. The Princeton mine, on the Mariposa estate; has excelled all others in California in its total production, which has been $4,000,000, and in the richness of large bodies of milling rock, which yielded $70 per ton for a long time. The Eureka has never averaged $60 per ton, and the Amador and Reis mines yield only about $20, and are extremely profitable at those rates. These are the most valuable quartz mines of this State, and yet how poor do they appear in comparison with the Hunt? Time. however, may prove that the gold deposit in the latter is merely a pocket. But the Bunt is not the only rich mine in the Thames District. The Golden Crown extracted $19,000 from sixteen tons of quartz, the Bank of England $380 to the ton, the Eureka $170 to the ton, the Tookey $80 to the ton, and the Alburnia $950 from 115 pounds of quartz. The last was of course from a pocket, for it is at the rate of about $18,000 to the ton, and of course if they had much quartz of that character they would not stop after crushing 115 pounds. Many pockets have been found in California with rock richer than that of the Alburnia, but in every case they have been in mines which have not paid for permanent work-

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS. I HIS Medicine is universally admitted be the most efficacious remedy o the world. No preparation is ac suitable to the climates of India and China as this fine and invigorating medicine. I is particularly adapted to the constitution of European ladies, as it is never failing in its effects in all diseases peculiar to females, while those who are attenuated by the debilitating effects of the above climates wil find in this wonderful remedy a kind of talisman whereby they may insure a restoration to robust health. HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. The science of Mediome has never before produced any remedy that can be compared to this wonderful Ointment, as it cares after all other means have failed, wounds, sores, ulcors, and also the mos inveterate skin diseases peculiar to the climates of India and China. It is the true the Soldier and Civilian, as certain old sores can be removed by it that be conquered by any other treat-
